Welcome

Running a small business means wearing many hats, and social media marketing often gets pushed to the back burner until you're scrambling for content at the last minute. This comprehensive 90-day planning system eliminates the guesswork and daily stress of content creation by providing you with proven templates, strategic frameworks, and time-saving tools that turn your social media presence into a consistent lead-generation machine.

Platform-Specific Template System

Each social media platform has its own unique audience behavior, optimal posting formats, and engagement patterns. Your template system includes customized monthly and weekly planning grids designed specifically for Instagram (1080x1080 posts, 1080x1920 Stories), Facebook (1200x630 link posts, 1200x1200 image posts), TikTok (1080x1920 vertical videos), LinkedIn (1200x627 articles, 1104x736 posts), and Pinterest (1000x1500 pins). The weekly templates break down into daily posting slots with suggested content types for each platform. For example, Instagram templates emphasize visual storytelling with designated spaces for feed posts, Stories, and Reels, while LinkedIn templates focus on thought leadership content, industry insights, and professional networking posts. Each template includes dimension guides, character count reminders, and platform-specific best practices built right into the planning cells. The monthly overview templates allow you to see content themes across all platforms, ensuring consistent messaging while adapting format and tone for each audience. Color-coded sections help you quickly identify content pillars, promotional posts, and engagement-focused content at a glance.

- Start with one platform template to master the system before expanding to all five platforms
 - Use the dimension guides to brief your designer or prepare visual content in advance
 - Fill out monthly templates first, then break content down into weekly actionables

Content Pillar Framework and Strategic Planning

Successful social media marketing requires strategic balance between different types of content that serve various purposes in your customer journey. The framework divides your content into four primary pillars: Educational (40% of content) - tutorials, tips, industry insights, and how-to content that positions you as an expert; Promotional (20% of content) - product launches, service highlights, special offers, and direct sales content; User-Generated and Community (25% of content) - customer testimonials, behind-the-scenes content, team spotlights, and user-submitted content; and Entertainment/Engagement (15% of content) - trending topics, polls, questions, and shareable content that builds community. Each pillar comes with detailed content suggestions, caption formulas, and engagement strategies. For example, educational posts should include actionable takeaways, clear headlines, and calls-to-action that drive traffic to your website or email list. Promotional content templates include scarcity language, benefit-focused copy, and social proof elements. The framework includes monthly theme suggestions that align with business seasons, holidays, and industry events, ensuring your content stays relevant and timely while maintaining strategic focus.

- Track performance by content pillar to identify which types resonate most with your audience
 - Batch create educational content during slow business periods for consistent publishing
 - Always pair promotional posts with value-driven content to maintain audience trust

Hashtag Organization and Research System

The built-in hashtag organizer transforms chaotic hashtag research into a systematic approach that increases discoverability and engagement. The system includes categorized hashtag banks for each platform, organized by reach level: Broad hashtags (1M+ posts) for maximum exposure, Niche hashtags (100K-1M posts) for targeted reach, and Micro hashtags (under 100K posts) for community building and higher engagement rates. Each category includes 50+ researched hashtags across common small business industries including retail, services, coaching, food and beverage, beauty, and professional services. The organizer provides templates for creating hashtag sets of 5-10 highly relevant tags that you can rotate to avoid algorithm penalties. Platform-specific strategies are included: Instagram hashtag mixing formulas, LinkedIn hashtag placement best practices, Pinterest keyword-focused hashtag selection, and TikTok trending hashtag incorporation techniques. The system includes a research template for discovering industry-specific hashtags by analyzing competitor posts, exploring hashtag suggestions, and monitoring trending topics in your niche. Monthly hashtag audit sheets help you track which combinations drive the highest engagement and reach.

- Create 10 different hashtag combinations for each content pillar to maintain variety
 - Research hashtags monthly to stay current with trending and seasonal tags
 - Save high-performing hashtag sets in your phone's notes app for quick posting

Caption Templates and Copywriting Formulas

Compelling captions transform casual scrollers into engaged followers and customers, but writing captivating copy consistently challenges even experienced marketers. The template collection includes 25+ proven caption formulas organized by purpose and platform. The Problem-Solution-Action formula works perfectly for educational content: identify a common pain point, present your solution, and include a clear call-to-action. Story-driven templates use the Before-During-After structure to create emotional connection while showcasing transformation. Promotional caption templates incorporate the AIDA formula (Attention-Interest-Desire-Action) with social proof elements and urgency triggers. Platform-specific templates account for character limits and user behavior: Instagram templates include engaging opening lines and strategic emoji usage, LinkedIn templates focus on professional insights with discussion-starting questions, and TikTok templates emphasize trending language and hashtag integration. Each template includes fill-in-the-blank sections for easy customization, suggested emoji combinations, and call-to-action variations. The system also provides seasonal caption collections for holidays, industry events, and trending topics, ensuring your content stays current and relatable while maintaining your brand voice.

- Write captions in batches using the same template formula for consistency and efficiency
 - Test different call-to-action phrases to discover what drives the most engagement from your audience
 - Save your highest-performing captions as templates for similar future posts

Posting Time Optimization and Scheduling Strategy

Posting at optimal times can increase engagement by up to 150%, but optimal timing varies by platform, audience, and industry. The posting time optimizer includes research-backed posting schedules for each platform based on general user behavior patterns, plus customizable tracking sheets to discover your audience's specific active hours. Instagram optimal times include weekday posting between 6-9 AM and 7-9 PM, with Wednesday through Friday showing highest engagement rates. Facebook performs best during weekday afternoons (1-4 PM) and weekend mornings (9-11 AM). LinkedIn content should target business hours: Tuesday through Thursday, 8-10 AM and 12-2 PM for maximum professional audience reach. TikTok's younger demographic engages most during evening hours (6-10 PM) and weekend afternoons. Pinterest users browse heavily during evening relaxation hours (8-11 PM) and weekend planning sessions. The system includes monthly tracking sheets to log your posting times alongside engagement metrics, helping you identify patterns specific to your audience. Scheduling strategy templates help you plan content distribution across platforms without overwhelming your audience, including cross-platform promotion timing and content repurposing schedules.

- Test posting times for 30 days before committing to a permanent schedule

- Use free scheduling tools like Creator Studio or Later to maintain consistency without manual posting
 - Post consistently at chosen times rather than perfect times - reliability builds audience trust
